The screenshot shows the BNA's Current Report website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for HOME, ABOUT, CONTACT US, PREFERENCES, HELP, and FAVORITES. Below this is a search bar with a 'SEARCH ALL' button and a search input field. The main content area features a 'HOT TOPICS' sidebar on the left with sections for 'Editors' Picks' (Obviousness, Patent Reform), 'My Picks' (Trademark's, File Sharing), and 'KEY FEATURES' (Analysis & Perspective, Attorney Insight, Legislative Table, Regulatory Table, Calendar of Events, Web Resources). The main article is titled 'Court Weighs Eliminating Litton's Point of Novelty Infringement Inquiry' and includes a sub-headline 'Oral arguments before the Federal Circuit raise serious questions about the continued use of the point of novelty inquiry for showing infringement of design patents...'. Below the main article is a 'HIGHLIGHTS' section with three items: 'Memo Aims at Ensuring That Examination Matches PTO's View in Bilski', 'Anti-Counterfeiting Treaty Is Both Lauded and Criticized', and 'PTO Proposes Hike in Patent Fees'. On the right side, there are several utility sections: 'RESEARCH TOOLS' (Indexes, Reported Cases, FROM THE EDITORS, MY DOCUMENTS, GETTING STARTED), 'ARCHIVES' (Latest Issue, All Issues), and 'INDEXES' (Search Indexes, Browse Indexes). The bottom of the page has a 'PATENTS' section with a brief article snippet.
