

2017 Author Biographies

Rouget F. (Ric) Henschel

Chapter 1: The State of the Law of Claim Construction and Infringement

Rouget F. (Ric) Henschel is a partner at Foley & Lardner LLP. He is a member of the Chemical, Biotechnology & Pharmaceutical, and Intellectual Property Litigation Team. He previously served as co-chair of the firm's Life Sciences Industry Team. Potomac Law Group, PLLC. He has a law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center and a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the City University of New York. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars. He has served as contributing editor of the Federal Circuit Bar Journal. He is a former law clerk for Judge Randall R. Rader of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Bradley C. Wright

Chapter 2: Pitfalls in Patent Drafting

Bradley C. Wright is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. His practice includes patent prosecution, litigation, and counseling as well as appellate matters. He earned his electrical engineering degree from M.I.T. and his law degree, with distinction, from the George Mason University School of Law. He is a former law clerk to the Hon. William C. Bryson, Circuit Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars. He is admitted to the bars of the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and several district courts. Mr. Wright was also an adjunct professor of law at the George Mason University School of Law, where he taught patent law and copyright law.

H. Wayne Porter and Bradley C. Wright
Chapter 3: Drafting the Winning Patent

H. Wayne Porter is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. His practice includes patent prosecution, counseling, and related opinion work. He earned his mechanical engineering degree from the Georgia Institute of Technology and his law degree, with high honors, from the University of Florida. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the District of Columbia and Florida bars.

Bradley C. Wright is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. His practice includes patent prosecution, litigation, and counseling as well as appellate matters. He earned his electrical engineering degree from M.I.T. and his law degree, with distinction, from the George Mason University School of Law. He is a former law clerk to the Hon. William C. Bryson, Circuit Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars. He is admitted to the bars of the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and several district courts. Mr. Wright was also an adjunct professor of law at the George Mason University School of Law, where he taught patent law and copyright law.

Andrew R. Sommer
Chapter 4: Continued Prosecution of the Patent

Andrew Sommer is a partner with the law firm of Winston & Strawn LLP in Washington, D.C., where he is the leader of the firm's Patent Trial and Appeal Board ("PTAB") Trial Practice. His practice primarily focuses on patent litigation in federal court, the International Trade Commission, and the PTAB disputes including handling litigation before the district courts, International Trade Commission, and the PTAB. He also counsels clients on issues regarding the management and monetization of patent rights. In 2014, the National Law Journal recognized him as one of Washington D.C.'s top 40 age 40 and under, citing his "vigorous intellectual property practice." He has been recognized multiple times by IAM Patent 1000. In 2017 he was selected to IAM Patent Strategy 300, "world's leading IP strategists." He earned his B.S. in optics from the University of Rochester and his law degree, magna cum laude, from George Mason University School of Law. While in law school, he was a patent examiner at the USPTO. He left private practice to clerk for the Hon. Kimberly A. Moore, United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit from 2006 to 2007. He is registered to practice before the USPTO, and is a member of the bars of the Commonwealth of Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as the Federal Circuit, Seventh Circuit, United States Supreme Court, and a number of district courts.

John A. MarlottChapter 5: Mechanical Patents

John A. Marlott is a partner in the Intellectual Property Practice at Jones Day in Chicago, Illinois. Mr. Marlott acts as lead trial counsel in patent litigation matters in federal district courts throughout the country, and he also practices before the U.S. International Trade Commission, and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. He has extensive experience in the prosecution of domestic and foreign patent applications, as well as in post-grant proceedings before the Patent Trial & Appeal Board in the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office (including inter partes reviews, covered business method reviews, and legacy ex parte and inter partes reexaminations). Before joining Jones Day in 1995, Mr. Marlott spent three years as a Patent Examiner at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, where he examined applications relating to a wide variety of mechanical and electro-mechanical technologies. Mr. Marlott received his J.D., with high honors, from the George Washington University, and his B.S. in General Engineering from the University of Illinois. He is a member of the Illinois and District of Columbia bars, as well as the trial bar for the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, and is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office.

Michael J. SheaChapter 6: Electrical Patents

Michael J. Shea is a shareholder with the law firm of Nixon & Vanderhye PC in Arlington, Virginia. His practice includes patent prosecution, litigation, and counseling. He earned his physics degree (magna cum laude) from Manhattan College and his law degree from Georgetown University Law Center. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia, District of Columbia, and New York bars. Mr. Shea was also an adjunct professor of law at the Georgetown University Law Center, where he taught intellectual property law.

Michael A. Sartori, Ph.D.Chapter 7: Software, E-Commerce, Internet, and Business Method Patents

Michael A. Sartori, Ph.D., is a partner at Venable LLP in Washington, D.C., and Chair of Venable's Patent Prosecution and Counseling Group. His practice includes patent prosecution, counseling, opinion work, and litigation. Dr. Sartori received his Bachelor of Science, Master of Science, and Doctorate in Electrical Engineering from the University of Notre Dame and graduated, cum laude, from the Georgetown University Law Center. Dr. Sartori has received several patents for inventions resulting from his research. He was also a Patent Examiner with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars.

Rose M. Thiessen, Ph.D. and C. Dylan Turner, Ph.D.Chapter 8: Chemical and Pharmaceutical Patents

Rose M. Thiessen, Ph.D., is a partner in the San Diego office of Knobbe Martens. She has a Ph.D. in Chemistry from Purdue University and a J.D. from Rutgers University. Dr. Thiessen specializes in U.S. and international patent portfolio management, patent prosecution, and licensing for chemical, pharmaceutical, and medical device technologies.

C. Dylan Turner, Ph.D., is an associate in the San Diego office of Knobbe Martens. He has a Ph.D. from the University of British Columbia and a J.D. from Northwestern University School of Law. He practices intellectual property law including patent procurement, litigation, and licensing, and specializes in the chemical and pharmaceutical arts.

Milan M. Vinnola and Lisa M. HemmendingerChapter 9: Biotechnology Patents

Milan M. Vinnola is of counsel in the Denver office of Polsinelli PC. Her practice focuses on intellectual property counseling, patent procurement, and licensing as well as involvement in opinion, litigation, interference, and opposition practice primarily in the chemical, pharmaceutical, and biotechnology areas.

Lisa M. Hemmendinger, Ph.D., is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. Her practice includes patent prosecution and counseling in the Life Sciences fields, including biologics and small molecule pharmaceuticals. She earned her Ph.D. degree in Biology from the University of Chicago and her law degree, with honors, from the University of Maryland School of Law. She is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Maryland and District of Columbia Bars. She is admitted to the bars of the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Robert S. KatzChapter 10: Design Patents

Robert S. Katz is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. His practice includes patent prosecution, litigation, and counseling and he is internationally recognized as one of the leading practitioners in the field of industrial designs. He earned his mechanical engineering degree from Carnegie-Mellon University and his law degree, with honors, from the George Washington University Law School. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars. He is admitted to the bars of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and several district courts. Robert S. Katz is a principal shareholder with the law firm of Banner & Witcoff, Ltd. in Washington, D.C. His practice includes patent prosecution, litigation, and counseling and he is internationally recognized as one of the leading practitioners in the field of industrial designs. He earned his mechanical engineering degree from Carnegie-Mellon University and his law degree, with honors, from the George Washington University Law School. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the Virginia and District of Columbia bars. He is admitted to the bars of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and several district courts. Mr. Katz has served as the Chair of the Industrial Design Committee for both AIPLA and FICPI, and currently serves as Treasurer on the Executive Board of the U.S. Section of FICPI. Mr. Katz is a professor at the George Washington University Law School teaching Design Law and also was an adjunct professor at Georgetown University Law Center and is teaching a class on Intellectual Property Pretrial Litigation Skills. Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Katz was a patent examiner at the USPTO.

David Hricik

Chapter 11: Combining Prosecution with Other Forms of Representation

David Hricik is a Professor of Law at Mercer University School of Law in Macon, Georgia, where he teaches patent law, ethics, and other courses. He litigated patent cases for 14 years before moving to academia. Since then, he has served as the Chair of the Ethics & Professionalism Committee of the American Intellectual Property Law Association, represented lawyers before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, served as an expert for the USPTO, and clerked for Chief Judge Rader at the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in 2012–13. He is also of counsel to Taylor, English, Duma LLP, in Atlanta.

Matthew Read and Paul Derry

Chapter 12: Drafting U.S. Patents With a View Toward Europe

Matthew Read is in the electronics and software group of European intellectual property firm Venner Shipley LLP. After graduating in physics from the University of Bristol, he spent a number of years working for a major U.K. electronics manufacturer before qualifying as a U.K. Chartered Patent Attorney and European Patent Attorney. He has extensive experience in filing and prosecuting European and British patent applications in fields such as telecommunications, Internet software, and semiconductor device fabrication technology. He is experienced in conducting oppositions and appeals before the European Patent Office, as well as litigation and licensing. He has taken an interest in the developing law and practice for the patentability of computer software and business methods.

Paul Derry is a partner with Venner Shipley LLP. He specializes in electronics and software and medical devices patenting matters. In addition to his patent creation experience, Paul has handled numerous opposition and appeal cases before the EPO, and is experienced in landscaping, freedom-to-operate searching and advice, IP audits, and assisting clients with their internal IP systems and procedures.

Andrew R. Sommer

Chapter 13: Validity Trials at the Patent Trial and Appeal Board

Andrew Sommer is a partner with the law firm of Winston & Strawn LLP in Washington, D.C., where he is the leader of the firm's Patent Trial and Appeal Board ("PTAB") Trial Practice. His practice primarily focuses on patent litigation in federal court, the International Trade Commission, and the PTABdisputes including handling litigation before the district courts, International Trade Commission, and the PTAB. He also counsels clients on issues regarding the management and monetization of patent rights. In 2014, the National Law Journal recognized him as one of Washington D.C.'s top 40 age 40 and under, citing his "vigorous intellectual property practice." He has been recognized multiple times by IAM Patent 1000. In 2017 he was selected to IAM Patent Strategy 300, "world's leading IP strategists." He earned his B.S. in optics from the University of Rochester and his law degree, magna cum laude, from George Mason University School of Law. While in law school, he was a patent examiner at the USPTO. He left private practice to clerk for the Hon. Kimberly A. Moore, United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit from 2006 to 2007. He is registered to practice before the USPTO, and is a member of the bars of the Commonwealth of Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as the Federal Circuit, Seventh Circuit, United States Supreme Court, and a number of district courts.